Every organization, no matter how big or how small, relies on productive, effective technology and information processing. Structured Management Systems (SMS) has been identified with information technology within the petroleum and convenience store industry since 1976. Our unceasing motivation is to continue to improve productivity within our customers' organizations.

Vision

Our vision for the future is built around "open systems" and our plans to make the EnergyElite applications available on any platform that supports a browser. Our core systems and the database will be stored on a server platform. Clients will operate within a browser window. This will bring together the best of "thin-client" capabilities along with tremendous end user-platform flexibility.

Openness - Progress 4GL / RDBMS

Over the years, SMS has been committed to providing our customers with "open" applications. Progress Software Corporation, our database partner, allows us this flexibility by supporting not only Solaris, but HP-UX, AIX and Linux as well. In addition, Progress supports SQL, XML and ODBC standards. EnergyElite applications run on any "open" hardware platform or operating system. SMS even offers source code.

Integrated

Our core products and modules are some of the most sophisticated and integrated in the industry today. Every single module has the capability of reporting back to the General Ledger. No matter how big or how small your application requirements are, SMS and EnergyElite can meet your needs.

A Solution That Fits

Every module within our EnergyElite product line, with the exception of Payroll, supports international units and monetary standards. In addition, SMS has written a filtered interface to SAP. Finally, SMS will modify any applications to fit your organization's needs... exactly.

Achieving Expectations

Our goal is to develop applications that will equip our customers to excel in their mission. Structured Management Systems currently has customers located in the U.S., Canada and Australia.
